and since then they have helped dozens of other communities throughout California form their own Community Choice power agencies now serving over 6.5 million customers, saving $90 million off their utility bills and avoiding the emission of over 940,000 metric tons of greenhouse gases.

CCP also trained over 16,000 high school students in the Bay Area to be leaders in climate work through their ECO2school program.

REUBEN WEINZVEG longtime Shomrei Torah member, community leader and environmental activist will speak about Preserve Rural Sonoma County (PRSC) which he founded with his wife Padi Selwyn in 2015. The mission of PRSC is to protect the rural character of Sonoma County from the industrialization of agricultural lands caused by the encroachment of wine and spirits processing complexes/event centers. They educate, advocate and organize to protect families and communities, watersheds and wildlife habitat, addressing traffic safety, noise impacts, infrastructure and other impacts on the quality of life.
