

Dear Fellow Poets and Writers,

I will be starting a new group for writers and poets. We will meet once a month on Zoom starting in January on Sunday afternoon. All processes and procedures will be decided democratically. You will be free to give and receive feedback after reading as you specify.

You can send your poems to me on a pdf file. I will send them out the night before we meet to everyone. I have a Zoom account. I am happy to lead and be the time keeper each time or we can take turns. This group is free. I am open to any and all of your suggestions.

I am aware there are many other writing groups. I have some ideas of how this one might give us more freedom and enjoyment. Depending on the response I get we might be able to take up to 15 minutes each to read.

Clare Shields

clareluz@sbcglobal.net