two days of discovery

Join National Geographic and the National Park Service in Washington, D.C., for the National Parks BioBlitz and Biodiversity Festival, May 20-21, 2016. Be part of this nationwide celebration of the National Park Service's centennial and biodiversity in your national parks.

Get involved!

- Sign up to join or lead a BioBlitz species inventory where teams of scientists, students, teachers, families, and other volunteers head out to explore, identify, and document plants and animals.
- Experience the Biodiversity Festival at Constitution Gardens on the National Mall. Enjoy hands-on science exhibits, food, art, and family-friendly entertainment.

Come discover biodiversity in the nation's capital!

All events are free
and open to everyone.
