

FIELD.
MUSEUM

Monarch Community Science Project

Be a part of groundbreaking science to show how YOUR milkweed is helping monarchs. If you have milkweed plants or are willing to plant them, please consider helping us measure the contribution of those plants to monarch conservation. This community science project is designed to be accessible to anyone, especially families and those new to community science.

Register to learn about future digital and in-person training at bit.ly/2VK2c3L

Digital Training:

June 3rd from 6 - 8 pm

In-person training:

North Park Villiage Nature Center
June 15th at 1pm

Other trainings to be decided